HUGE FIRES RAGE IN JAP'S GREAT SHIPBUILDING CENTER AFTER VISIT OF FORTRESSES

Unrelenting War of Annihilation From Skys Catches
Nipponese Without Defense as Bombardiers
Single Out Targets

RAIDS ARE CHALLENGED ONLY BY ANTI-AIRCRAFT

Guam, June 29.—(P)—Huge fires raged in Japan's great shipbuilding center of Sasebo and three other industrial cities today after nearly 500 Superfortresses rained 3,000 tons of fire bombs from the skies on the home islands.

The unrelenting war of annihilation from the skies caught the Japanese without a defense. Not a single enemy fighter plane rose to meet the intruders.

The bombardiers singled out targets which never before had felt the full weight of the Superfortresses, designed by the American aerial command to rob Japan of the power to resist.

U. S. FLEET IN VICINITY OF MAKASSER

Presence of Warships East Of Borneo Worries Invasion-Conscious Japanese

NEWS IS UNCONFIRMED

By SPENCER DAVIS

Manila, June 29.—(P)—An American fleet has returned to the Makassar Straits east of Borneo for the first time since the forlorn days of January, 1942. Gen. Douglas MacArthur disclosed today.

The invasion-conscious Japanese reported a naval bombardment of the Borneo east coast had been in progress for ten days.

A Dutch correspondent who flew over the port of Balikpapan, fronting on the straits, reported earlier this week seeing the warships in action, and the Japanese radio has claimed that Allied landing attempts there already have been beaten off.

MacArthur gave no confirmation of any of these reports, but his communique on the southwest Pacific today did report the destruction of three Japanese torpedoes on Monday by American surface ships in the Makassar Straits and told of continuing Allied air blows throughout the East Indies, particularly at Balikpapan.

The ships involved undoubtedly belong to the U. S. Seventh Fleet, which put ashore the Australian Ninth Division on British North Borneo and Labuan in the Bruai Bay area on June 10.

The Australians last were reported to have taken Beaufort, a 15-mile advance northeast up the Borneo coast along the narrow-gauge railway toward the Japanese base of Jesselton. Allied planes bombed Jesselton without opposition, and Allied torpedo boats shelled the Jesselton area from the sea.

(Also pushing southwest on the North Borneo coast, the Australians were reported by the Melbourne radio to have made a junction with troops who landed last week at the Miri oilfield area in an amphibious jump.

The Melbourne radio added that oil production had been resumed at Taramkan, an island off the Borneo east coast which the Australians invaded on May 1. Extent of the production was not mentioned in the broadcast, recorded by the American Broadcasting Company.)

The Australians still had not met any formidable Japanese resistance on Borneo, whose oil riches would greatly lessen the strain on American trans-Pacific supply lines.

The stiffening-up and neutralizing process by the U. S. Fifth and 13th Air Forces and the Royal Australian Air Forces continued not only ahead of the ahead of the ground forces but all the way (Turn to Page Seven)

New Disputes Break Out On Labor Front

By the Associated Press

A new crop of disputes broke out on the nation's labor front and others were in the budding stage today, spoiling an otherwise improved picture on the troubled labor scene.

More than 60,000 of the 93,000 workers idle yesterday by strikes and work stoppages, prepared to return to their jobs today, their controversies settled, at least temporarily.

Overshadowing the brighter side, however, were additional walkouts, boosting the idle up to the 40,000 mark, and threats of strikes by three railroads and at 18 western electric company plants.

The biggest improvement in labor conditions was in Detroit, where most of the city's 45,000 idle CIO United Automobile Workers were expected back on the job following settlement of an AFL-CIO jurisdictional dispute.

Another 15,000 strikes in 10 glass plants in 10 cities agreed to end their week-old strike, bowing to a War Labor Board request to resume work. They included 8,000 at the Libbey-Owens-Ford Company's four plants and 7,000 at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's six plants.

A major disturbance loomed in the east as about 20,000 employees of 16 New Jersey and three New York City plants of the Western Electric Company voted to strike.

The threatened railroad strikes would affect 4,000 Erie lines serving employees and about 2,000 workers on two electric lines serving thousands of Chicago metropolitan area commuters, the Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee and the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin lines.

New strikes were added to the list as others were settled yesterday.

REGISTER TIRES

Philadelphia, June 29.—(A)—All tire handlers from manufacturer to retailer will be required to register their inventories as of June 30 with the OPA. Frank J. Loftus, district chairman, announced today, in a drive aimed to tighten rationing enforcement.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Goodard, of Chandlers Valley, received word from the War Department on June 27 that their son, Sgt. Richard E. Goodard, was killed in action June 11 on Northern Luzon.

Sgt. Goodard, better known to friends as Dick, left for service April 4, 1942, going first to Mississippi with Co. G, 152nd Infantry Regiment, 38th Division. From there he went to Louisiana and North Carolina, and overseas on December 18, 1943.

He had been in action in the Marshall Islands, New Guinea, the Marianas, Manila and Northern Luzon and was eligible for honorable discharge with 109 points.

He was wounded February 8 of this year, receiving injury to his

ISSUES GRAVE WARNING

Kansas City, June 29.—(A)—President Truman predicted today a powerful base being fashioned in the liberated Philippines will play a part "in the vital knockout blow against Japan."

In a message to Gen. Douglas MacArthur congratulating him upon the successful conclusion of the Luzon campaign, the president said:

"With the complete defeat of the enemy on Luzon you have swept them from all the Philippines and redeemed the promises of the American people to the loyal Filipino people."

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross also announced that the president has signed an executive order formally transferring the functions of the War Food Administration to Agriculture Secretary Clinton P. Anderson, in conformity with plans disclosed some weeks ago.

Kansas City, Mo., June 29.—(A)—President Truman put squarely up to the senate today what he termed the decision of future peace.

Unless the United States leads the way by ratification of the United Nations Charter and a World Court, he declared, "there can be no peace in the world."

His solemn warning, voiced in a housewarming ceremony last night in which he received the honorary Doctor of Laws degree from the University of Kansas City's law school increased speculation he may submit the Charter to the senate Monday in person.

"We are going to have to ratify this constitution of San Francisco," the president declared, "and I want to see the United States do it first."

Meanwhile the president arranged a 5 p. m. conference with former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, 1936 Republican presidential nominee.

One of a series of moves to unite both parties and all factions behind non-partisan objectives, the meeting will take place in the president's temporary suite atop the Hotel Muehlebach. He later will attend a buffet supper as guest of Roy W. Roberts, managing-editor of the Kansas City Star.

Landon and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, 1944 GOP standard bearer, were invited some weeks ago to call on the president for discussion. A date with Dewey, set for last Monday in Washington, had to be postponed because of the delay in the closing of the San Francisco. A new date has yet to be arranged.

The president planned to spend most of his day at his suite of offices in the Federal Building here, driving over from his home at Independence to go over war development and plans for his forthcoming "Big Three" meeting with Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill. He will return to Washington Sunday in his big C-54 army transport plane. He plans to send to the senate (Turn to Page Thirteen)

Gandhi Prays For Success of Conference

By PRESTON GROVER

Simla, India, June 29.—(P)—Mohandas K. Gandhi said today it was his "hope and prayer" that there would be a happy outcome to the Wavell conference, even as Moslem League and Congress party representatives reached an impasse in the efforts to constitute a new government for India.

The Simla conference, summoned by Viceroy Wavell to discuss his plans for an almost completely Indian government, adjourned today. It was announced, but it is expected to reconvene July 14.

It was explained that the adjournment would permit the conferees to consult among themselves and resolve the dispute, but it was regarded as significant that the time of reconvening was indefinite.

Collapse of the conference is threatened by a dispute over distribution of seats in the proposed new executive council, with the Moslem League insisting it alone is capable of representing the Moslem population.

Gandhi's Congress party, contending it is fully representative of all India, wants a voice in selection of the Moslem representatives.

Gandhi, is one of the few interviewees he has granted in recent months, upheld this position of his party today—that it represents all the Indian communities.

The interview was informal, chatty and merry

Senate Faces Decision On Talk Rationing

Washington, June 29.—(A)—A 12-hour, 32-minute session that ended early today brought the senate face-to-face with a decision whether to ration talks.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), and 31 colleagues representing both major parties presented a rarely accepted cloture petition to limit senatorial debate.

Most of the free and unlimited conversation which began at noon yesterday centered on a controversial proposal to vote operating funds to the Fair Employment Practice Committee, a division of government which has a minimum of 100 employees. There were other matters—Senator Tom Connally's report on the United Nations conference, final senate approval of the long-disputed price control extension bill and a $38,500,000 war department appropriation.

But the great bulk of the wordage was spilled on the FEPC proposition. Senator Bilbo (D-Miss) and a potent, talkative bloc of southerners opposed it on their contention that it spelled trouble between the races, friction in industry and governmental meddling in business.

Senator Chavez (D-NM) fought for it just as vigorously, contending the southerners were attempting to thwart the will of a majority of the senate.

Chinese Capture Liuchow Airfield

Chungking, June 29.—(P)—A Chinese army spokesman announced today that Chinese troops had captured the main airfield in the southern suburbs of Liuchow which Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault's 14th Air Force was forced to abandon to the Japanese last Nov. 7.

The spokesman said Chinese forces also had retaken the city's south railway station.

Fierce fighting was reported raging in the western and northwestern suburbs of Liuchow where other Chinese forces were battling their way toward the center of the important Kwangsi province city.

The spokesman said Liuchow had been burning since June 23 and that the core of the city was destroyed. He estimated that less than 1,000 Japanese remained in the city.

Approximately 100 miles north-east of Liuchow Chinese forces were closing in on Kweilin, another former U. S. air base site.

NAZI CIVILIANS ARE EXECUTED BY YANKS

Rheinbach, Germany, June 29.—(P)—Three German civilians were hanged at dawn today by American Army executioners for killing an American aviator after he parachuted to earth from a flaming bomber last Aug. 15.

The hanging was the outcome of the first civilian war crime case brought to trial on German soil since the end of the war.

The hangings were carried out by a traveling team of two army executioners who already had performed 70 hangings. They are M/Sgt. John C. Woods, former executioner of Texas State Prison, and S/Sgt. Thomas Robinson, Bronx, N. Y., a baker in civilian life.

Editorial

WHAT WILL THE ANSWER BE?

The Times-Mirror wants the public to answer a question which we believe every American is interested in. The Warren office of the O. P. A. takes the attitude that a soldier who has served three or four months at an army camp and who is home on furlough is entitled to more consideration at their hands than a discharged soldier who has served three or four years in the fox holes of Europe or the South Pacific, and who may have lost an arm, a leg or an eye and who has literally gone through hell in the defense of his country.

Yesterday a young fellow who has just returned home after serving more than three years in the army, almost all of the time in foreign service, going through the African campaign, was on the beachhead at Anzio, was among the first of the troops that invaded France, marched into Germany and was still fighting when the final bell rang, came to the Times-Mirror office for information.

This boy went to the ration board and asked for a little gasoline in order that he might have a few of the pleasures that we have all enjoyed while he was doing his bit on the field of battle. He was told "nothing doing". If he wanted gasoline to go out and look for a job and they would see what they could do for him, but if he wanted the gas to go on an outing it was strictly out of the question. They also told him that if he had stuck in the army and was home on furlough they would be glad to give him a gallon of gas for each day of his furlough. The fact that he had been discharged from the army made him a common citizen and it was the intention of the board to give him no more consideration than any other citizen. If he had been a draftee and gone down to Harrisburg and was inducted into the army and the next day, for some reason or another, had been sent home on a thirty day furlough, they would gladly have given him tickets for thirty gallons of gas, one for each day of his furlough.

It may be that the regulations do not provide for gas for discharged soldiers, but its a poor regulation that can't be bent just a little and we know of instances

Impromptu Celebration On Fourth Being Mapped Here

An impromptu Independence Day celebration is in the making by the Citizens Committee that has in charge arrangements for a huge program after the surrender of Japan. The decision was reached at a meeting of the executive committee of the group last evening after weeks of discussion regarding fireworks that had been secured almost a year ago to be used in celebrating the collapse of Germany.

The committee has decided to set off the pyrotechnics from the vicinity of Washington Park on the evening of July Fourth about ten o'clock, or as soon as darkness settles over the valley.

The fireworks have been on hand since last August, and it was the opinion of the committee that they might deteriorate before the surrender of Japan. Hence it was decided that Fourth of July would be an appropriate time to set off the display. It is believed that this announcement will serve as an inducement for many local families to remain home, who otherwise may have made plans to go away for the day.

The committee is also endeavoring to arrange for a band concert to be held in Crescent Park probably between 8:00 and 9:45 o'clock on the evening of the Fourth to provide entertainment for the fireworks to start banging. It is also possible that a softball game will be scheduled for the South Side playgrounds about seven (Turn to Page Seven)

Severe Storm Causes Heavy Loss In East

Philadelphia, June 29.—(P)—Resident of eastern Pennsylvania, southern New Jersey and upper Delaware examined damage today following an intense electrical storm last night.

Lightning destroyed a number of barns and other structures, disrupted train schedules temporarily and caused an interruption in telephone, telegraph and electric service. Some crops were beaten to the ground.

For the second time in thirty-three years, Spies church, a Berks county landmark, was damaged by fire. The Rev. Calvin W. Humbert estimated damage from a blaze started by lightning at $50,000.

Total damage in the Reading area was estimated by city officials at $350,000. They reported a number of barns and homes were struck by lightning.

Loss in Lancaster county was set by officials at $20,000. Telephone communication was limited, but repairs were being made. Electrical current failed in the Camden, N. J., area and homes and business places were dark for several hours.

Residents of upper Delaware reported the storm was the worst in recent years. Trees were uprooted. (Turn to Page Seven)

AVERT MORAL CHAOS

Washington, June 29.—(A)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) told his colleagues today they must accept the United Nations charter as a brave experiment or cheat the world of "its only collective chance" for peace.

In a vigorous endorsement of the San Francisco conference agreement for formation of an international organization, the chairman of the Republican senatorial conference called the pledges sworn out there "a new emancipation proclamation for the world."

Before the tall Michigan senator took the floor, Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Republican steering committee, said he and others are thinking of trying to write into the ratification resolution limitations on the authority Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., will wield as American delegate on the proposed World Security Council.

Speaking from a prepared manuscript, Vandenberg said he would support the charter "in the deep conviction that the alternative is physical and moral chaos in many places of the earth."

"I shall do it because there must be no default in our oft-pledged purpose to outlaw aggression so far as lies within our human power," he declared. "I shall do it because this plan, regardless of infirmities, holds great promise that the United Nations may collaborate for peace as effectively as they have made common causes for war."

"I shall do it because peace must not be cheated out of its only collective chance, x x x I doubt if there could ever be another or better start."

Vandenberg, who helped draft the charter as an American delegate, said the Pacific settlement of disputes, not force, is the real genius of the charter.

The question that arises, Taft said, concerns the possible use of American military forces in actual combat without prior specific authorization by congress.

He has not thought it out, the (Turn to Page Seven)

Vets Have Year To Secure License

Harrisburg, June 29.—(P)—Returning soldiers have a year after discharge in which to renew motor vehicle operators' licenses without re-examination, Revenue Secretary David W. Harris said today, but they need a permit immediately if they want to drive.

Harris said applications for renewal must be accompanied by a certification from an alderman, magistrate, justice of the peace or notary that they have examined the applicant's honorable discharge and the facts sworn to are true and correct.

The year extension applies to any person serving in the Armed Forces or any woman's organization officially connected with them but does not apply to the Merchant Marine, Women's Air Ferry Service or Civilian Air Patrol. Veterans with infirmities must present physicians certificates of driving competency.

Sylvan Spots In Allegheny Forest Open

Because of the continued manpower shortage for such work, the public is asked by R. F. Hemingway, Allegheny Forest supervisor, to lend its cooperation in policing the various picnic and recreation areas which are being opened for the summer.

In addition to the Twin Lakes and Loleta areas, Mr. Hemingway states that picnic spots at Morrison Run, Allegheny Forest camp on the Kinzua road, Hearts Content and Sandstone Springs, Kelley Pines and Kennedy Springs will be open for use of the public by July Fourth.

Reports on water tests from Morrison Run and Allegheny Forest springs have been returned from the department of health and samples of supply at the other areas have been sent in for testing.

The two swim areas, Twin Lakes and Loleta, it is stated, are without life guard service and the public swims there at its own risk.

Paper Salvage In State Is On a Decline

Pennsylvania's waste paper collections in May decreased 4,333 tons from April in the war salvage program, Colley S. Baker, executive secretary of the State Council of Defense's salvage committee, announced today.

Collections in May, as reported by county salvage chairmen to the State salvage headquarters, amounted to 72,061 tons, an average of 14½ pounds per capita for the State. April collections amounted to 76,444 tons, a per capita average of 15.4 pounds.

Collections for the first five months of 1945 amounted to 335,985 tons, an average of 67.8 pounds per capita.

Northumberland County, for the third time in the last 10 months, was the State champion in May. Chairmen W. S. Minnier and R. A. Jones reported the collection of 1,363 tons of paper, an average of 21.4 pounds per capita. Philadelphia, with an average of 20.8 pounds, was second; Allegheny, with an average of 20.4 pounds, third; and Lancaster, with an average of 20.2 pounds fourth.

IS GAS SHORT?

Judging from the number of out of state cars rolling through Warren today the gasoline shortage appears to be only local. Cars from several far western states and dozens from Ohio, New Jersey and other points were noted in Warren today. The traffic is evidently due to the proximity of July 4th when many will be enjoying a vacation period.

SMALL FIRE LOSS

Flashing of a quantity of naphtha at the plant of the Warren Ace and Tool Works yesterday afternoon about 3:20 sent the fire department to that plant. REMAINS CLOSED

Mary Church, general secretary of the YWCA, calls attention to the fact that the YW cafeteria will remain closed throughout the coming week.

ROTARY SPEAKER

Robert Capell will conduct his first meeting as Rotary president for the Monday luncheon-session at the Hotel Carver. The speaker will be M. H. Deardorff, whose subject will be the 150th anniversary of Warren.

THE STATE POLICE SAY:

Always remember to look in your rear-view mirror when you want to stop or slow down, pass other vehicles, pull out from a parked position, or make a right or left hand turn. In addition to using the rear view mirror, when pulling out from a parked position you should put your hand out the window and look back to check further on traffic conditions. Look and be sure.

CHERRIES SCARCE

Fresh sour cherries for pies and home canning will be scarce in Pennsylvania this year, the State Agriculture Department indicated today. Latest estimates, the department reported, place the 1945 crop in the Keystone state at 3,450 tons, less than half the all-time record output of 9,000 tons last year. The War Food Administration has set aside Pennsylvania's entire commercial crop for canning and freezing for the armed forces, agriculture officials said.

CAN GET WHEAT INSURANCE

Farmers can get all-risk crop insurance on winter wheat this year. Wheat-farmers in Pennsylvania will have a chance at this non-profit insurance offered by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. Under the wheat insurance, farmers have a choice of two contracts, each for 3 years. One offers coverage up to 75 per cent of the average yield; the other up to 50 per cent. The amount of coverage varies with the stage of the crop's development. Premiums are payable annually by cash or premium notes. Applications covering at least 50 farms in a county, or one-third of the wheat-producing farms, if that number is less—must be received before crop insurance may be available in the county.

Blood donors with type "O" blood can give successful transfusions to patients with blood of any other type.

Warren Nat'l Plans Branch At Sheffield

An announcement of general interest to the community is the statement appearing elsewhere in this paper that the Warren National Bank is to purchase the assets and assume the deposit liabilities of the Sheffield National Bank at the close of business June 30, 1945.

Operations are to continue as usual at the Sheffield location in charge of the present personnel of the Sheffield National Bank. The change seems to be in line with the general trend in banking practice.

SHEFFIELD NEWS

Sheffield, June 27—Miss Josephine Benson entertained at her home on Wednesday evening with a shower honoring Mrs. Paul Lindberg, the former Ann Yutze, a recent bride.

Tire Quota In This Area Set

Available to qualified civilians in the Erie district in July will be 8,525 grade 1 passenger tires, according to OPA announcement here. The quota is 1,800 more than the initial allotment for June but may be increased as was the present month's quota.

The national quota made available 2,500,000 passenger tires for July, the same number as in the June allotment. Only B and C ration book holders are eligible for new tires.

National truck and bus tire quotas are greater than those for June, with 955 allocated locally in the 7.50 or smaller size and 949 in the 8.25 or larger size. Allocated in this district for truck or farm implement use are one hundred seventy-eight 7.50 or smaller size tires and one hundred four 7.50 or larger.

Larger July quotas of truck and bus tires reflect the greater need for these tires during the summer, the OPA said, rather than any increase in supply. Military needs for these sizes continue heavy, according to the OPA.

NO REDUCTION IN OIL SUBSIDY PAYMENT

Oil City, June 29—O. D. Judd, OPA fuel administrator, today said neither OPA nor Judge F. N. Vinson, economic stabilizer, contemplates a reduction in the oil subsidy payment for stripper well production during the war emergency. Judd issued the statement to J. P. Jones of Bradford, director of production for the Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Association. The price official acted to spike rumors that the current subsidy to Penn Grade region oil producers is being reconsidered with a view to possible downward revision. The current program provides for payments ranging from 35c per barrel in the western field to 75c per barrel in the Penn Grade region.

WHAT WILL THE ANSWER BE?

where regulations have not only been bent by the local board, but busted wide open.

The soldier in the case came to the Times-Mirror office after he had been turned down by the board and asked us if anything could be done to secure him a little gas. We called the O. P. A. office and asked the person in charge if the story told by the soldier was true and we were informed that the facts were substantially as outlined above. He went further and said that the soldier was not entitled to any more consideration than any other private citizen and that it was his opinion that the people of Warren would bear him out in his contention. We want to ask the people of Warren county if they agree with the O. P. A. in their statement of discharged soldiers. The Times-Mirror would like to have the people state their views and letters, both pro and con, will be published, but we must request writers to confine their remarks to not more than 150 words.

THE HOME FRONT COMES THROUGH

The climax of the Mighty 7th War Loan campaign in Warren county will be reached Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at Beaty Field, when fifteen big awards will be presented to lucky purchasers by the local War Finance Committee. It should be remembered that the deadline for qualifying as a recipient of one of the awards is noon tomorrow and today's figures indicate that the county is still considerably short of the quota assigned.

Americans are few who would attempt to classify their investments in War Bonds under the heading of "sacrifice." Doubtless innumerable such purchases have represented serious temporary inconvenience to buyers. But most Americans look upon War Bond buying both as one of the best investment opportunities ever offered, and as a simple and inescapable duty to perform. Rare are those who would cite their War Bonds as proof of individual patriotism.

The record of the American people in six War Loan drives, which they have maintained in the now-closing Seventh Drive, does offer its evidence that the Home Front has been conscious—and has acted on the consciousness—of its responsibility. It is evidence that those who could contribute nothing more than dollars to the fight have, for the most part, made full use of the ammunition available to them.

Actually, the nation's record in the seven War Loan drives has been one to astound. Quotas in those drives totaled 102 billion dollars—an incomprehensible sum. The tabulation of returns on the Seventh drive still are incomplete. But on the basis of latest reports, more than 85,000,000 Americans are shown to have invested more than 135 billion dollars.

The record shows that, not only have total quotas in each drive have been surpassed, but individual goals set for various types of bonds also have been exceeded. The record goes still further to show that individual states and communities which have failed to perform their assigned portions of the whole job have been rare exceptions. This, of course, is another way of saying that Americans everywhere, and of every economic bracket, have made the achievement possible.

As remarked, individuals aren't claiming medals because of the War Bonds they have bought. They know they aren't entitled to any. They expect no praise for having done that which would have shamed them had they failed to do.

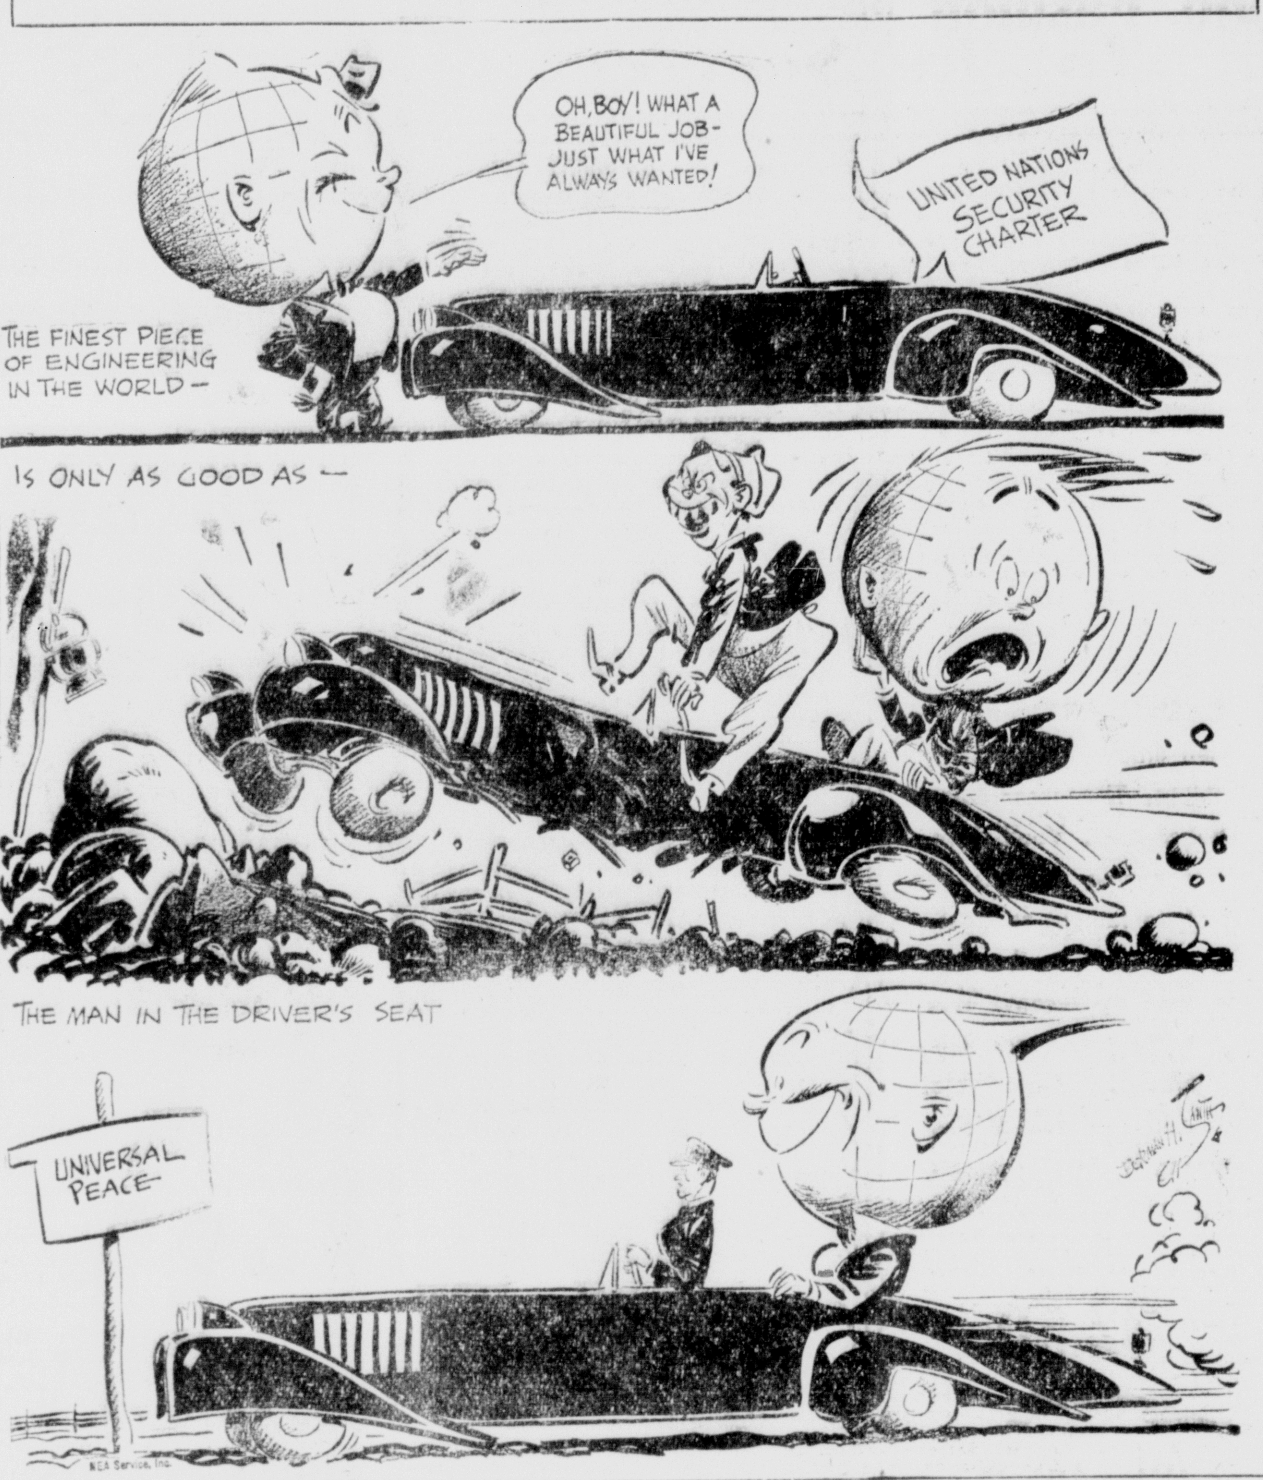

But the fact remains that the American record on War Bond drives represents the most astounding financial achievement of its kind in history. It is evidence that, whatever else most Americans may or may not be doing in behalf of victory, they are not making slackers of their dollars.

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD

That aerial bombardment last evening between eight and nine o'clock was sponsored by one of the sub-committees of the local War Finance Committee to awaken citizens to the fact that Warren county is lagging in the Mighty 7th War Loan drive, which is scheduled to end tomorrow.

All in the community are invited by the Warren County Ministerial Association to join in its first worship service of the summer series, to be held at 7:30 p. m. Sunday in Beaty school auditorium. An especially fine speaker has been secured for this initial service, Dr. Alexander Kemp, medical missionary to Africa.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

In 1925

After several years' delay, Warren has been awarded one of the captured field guns of the World War. The Burgess, V. F. W., American Legion, and Town Council made the announcement, but do not know exactly what type it will be.

Art Johnson, lefthand pitcher, hurled the Warren outfit to a 2-0 victory over Falconer. Hugh Eddent was on the mound for the losers and the game was almost wholly a pitchers' battle.

One of the biggest crowds in the history of the annual Warren county picnic is expected at the Exposition grounds July 4. A sham battle between guardsmen and ex-World War veterans will highlight the affair.

Julius M. Johnson has purchased the store formerly operated by Mr. Juliano on Wayne street. Mr. Johnson has been operating the store for some time and is enjoying a fine business.

In 1935
Among the winners of the YM-Cadet Class annual swimming meet were S. Tears, Moses Hawley, DeVere Matthews, Sammy Loomis and Art Warr. Tears swam the fifty foot length in ten and three-fifths seconds.

Miss Joan Jacobson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jacobson, Glenwood street, was presented in a piano recital at the Conservatory by her teacher, Miss Adelaide Swanson.

Residents of the Swedestown section of North Warren will hold their annual picnic at Ferneliff Park. Highlighting the outing will be a ball game between the ladies and men.

Chapter 13

MARLO looked at her in utter disgust. "Look, Mrs. Winston. I've listened enough to your silly prattle-prattle and now if you'll excuse me—"

Marlo's rudeness brought Madge to her feet, and she spoke coolly. "I'm left with only one alternative, Miss Drew."

Marlo looked at her coldly. "And what is that, Mrs. Winston?"

"I shall have to reconsider giving John a divorce."

Without another word Madge picked up her purse and started for the door, and Marlo, realizing she was in a tight spot, grew panicky.

"Mrs. Winston—wait!" she called.

Madge turned. "Wait? For what?"

"I'm sorry I lost my temper," she said apologetically, forcing a meek smile.

"That's quite all right," said Madge indifferently, knowing she had the situation well in hand.

"Won't you reconsider telling me about your little plan?"

An amused smile came over Madge's face. "Then you're willing to listen?"

"It almost killed Marlo to say, 'Yes.'"

"Very well," said Madge lightly, as she returned to the divan. "I need a stimulant," said Marlo. "If I have Sophie make some coffee, will you join me?"

"I'd be delighted," said Marlo. "I'll tell Sophie."

IN the meantime, downstairs in the lobby poor Mr. Dithers, the manager, knowing Madge was upstairs, became excited as he watched John Winston come striding up to the desk.

"Good morning," said John crisply. "I'd like to see Miss Drew."

"But," Mr. Dithers choked again and asked feebly, "do you think you should?"

John looked surprised. "Why not?"

"No reason, no reason," he stammered, and then picked up the house phone and asked in a quavering voice for Penthouse D.

AS John crossed the room he grew slightly light-headed from the pungent aroma of too many gardenias. And when he stepped out on the terrace, he was attacked by an over-demonstrative greeting from Marlo.

It was not Marlo's dramatic greeting that stunned John momentarily, it was her daring negligence.

"How nice to see you," she ment as she continued to rave on.

"You can't pull the wool over my eyes! You're running back to her! Your promise to me doesn't mean that!" She snapped her fingers.

John mumbled, "I only think it my duty—"

"Duty!" she screamed. "You dare talk about duty in my presence?"

"I thought you'd understand?"

"You mean you thought I was enough of a sucker to believe your lies!"

"But I'm not lying, Marlo."

"Then who told you she was sick?" she snapped.

"An old friend of ours, a physician, stopped by the club this morning."

Marlo thought, as she quickly drew in her horns. Maybe John is telling the truth. Perhaps her doctor was trying to play Dick Cupid and was pulling the sick gag to get the Winstons back together again. And from the expression on John's face she wondered how much damage she had caused.

She laughed with affected self-consciousness. "Gracious, I never dreamed I had such a temper!"

Then she flung her arms around his neck and cooed. "Darling, please forgive me for not believing you, but after all I am human and I was a trifle, wee bit jealous. You can understand that, can't you, dear?"

But due to John's rude awakening he had nothing to say. As Marlo continued to cling to him like ivy he suddenly noticed how her green, pleading eyes had lost their mysterious depth. Her baby-like tone of voice, which had previously amused him, now irritated him.

"Darling, what if you find out your doctor friend was just lying?"

"I wouldn't lie," he said.

"But I'm just saying suppose he was—will you come straight back to me?"

JOHN stared at her. He was seeing and hearing for the first time a Marlo he didn't know existed, and he listened in amazement as she continued to rave on.

"You can't pull the wool over my eyes! You're running back to her! Your promise to me doesn't mean that!" She snapped her fingers.

"But I'm just saying suppose he was—will you come straight back to me?"

Chapter 14

MARLO had to use all her self-control to keep her eyes from narrowing menacingly as she asked guardedly, "Just what should I interpret by that retort?"

"Well, it's just that last night was the first time Madge and I had discussed getting a divorce."

"People are going to Reno every day; it's up to you to see that she leaves immediately."

John resented her dictatorial attitude but said quietly, "I'm afraid Madge isn't in any condition to go anywhere at the moment."

"No?" said Marlo, as her eyebrows rose threateningly. "Why not?"

"She's ill. His flat statement promptly ignited the wick of Marlo's explosive temper."

Her face grew crimson. "She's ill, did you say?"

"Yes."

Then she snapped out like a whip. "What's wrong with her?"

Suddenly John grew stubborn and decided, out of fairness to Madge, not to tell the facts of her illness.

"She's, she's, upset."

"Well, now, isn't that just too bad," Marlo said, as she clenched her fists and rose, simmering, to her feet. "Is that what you came here to tell me?"

John rose heavily. "Yes, I didn't think it would be fair to go back to Winston Manor without explaining."

Marlo bit deep into her lip. "That's very thoughtful of you, John. And not being able to control herself any longer, she shouted, 'But why don't you tell me the truth?'"

"I am," said John, seriously. "Like hell you are!"

JOHN stared at her. He was seeing and hearing for the first time a Marlo he didn't know existed, and he listened in amazement as she continued to rave on.

"You can't pull the wool over my eyes! You're running back to her! Your promise to me doesn't mean that!" She snapped her fingers.

John mumbled, "I only think it my duty—"

"Duty!" she screamed. "You dare talk about duty in my presence?"

"I thought you'd understand?"

"You mean you thought I was enough of a sucker to believe your lies!"

"But I'm not lying, Marlo."

"Then who told you she was sick?" she snapped.

"An old friend of ours, a physician, stopped by the club this morning."

Marlo thought, as she quickly drew in her horns. Maybe John is telling the truth. Perhaps her doctor was trying to play Dick Cupid and was pulling the sick gag to get the Winstons back together again. And from the expression on John's face she wondered how much damage she had caused.

She laughed with affected self-consciousness. "Gracious, I never dreamed I had such a temper!"

Then she flung her arms around his neck and cooed. "Darling, please forgive me for not believing you, but after all I am human and I was a trifle, wee bit jealous. You can understand that, can't you, dear?"

But due to John's rude awakening he had nothing to say. As Marlo continued to cling to him like ivy he suddenly noticed how her green, pleading eyes had lost their mysterious depth. Her baby-like tone of voice, which had previously amused him, now irritated him.

"Darling, what if you find out your doctor friend was just lying?"

"I wouldn't lie," he said.

"But I'm just saying suppose he was—will you come straight back to me?"

A Statement by the Directors of the Sheffield National Bank

Sheffield, Pennsylvania

Changes at some time occur in the life of every business. The financial position of the Sheffield National Bank is now stronger than at any time since it was established in 1902, but it has long been the thought of the Officers and Directors that by joining forces with a larger banking institution we could insure continual and broader banking service for our community.

After careful consideration, and with the best interests of our many customers and friends firmly in mind, we have arranged with the Warren National Bank whereby as of June 30, 1945, they will purchase the assets and assume the deposit liabilities of the Sheffield National Bank and carry on operations in the present location as a branch of the Warren National Bank. Business will continue as usual with the same personnel in charge and our customers may continue to make deposits, draw checks against their balances using check books now in their possession and in general carry on their banking business in the manner to which they are accustomed.

With the combination of the assets of the Sheffield National Bank, the total resources of the Warren National Bank will be more than $20,000,000.00. It is believed that everyone in our community will appreciate the advantages of having available to them the services of this strong bank with a complete Trust Department and many other banking facilities.

Your wholehearted cooperation and support of the Sheffield Branch of the Warren National Bank will be beneficial to Sheffield and our entire area.

Employees of New Process Company Honor President

Over 350 employees of the New Process Company took part in a surprise picnic and outing yesterday to honor their president, John L. Blair. The Marconi Outing Club was the scene of the gathering. The New Process office closed at 2:30 while Mr. Blair was attending a business meeting at the Chamber of Commerce in connection with a visit he and other officials of the Chamber of Commerce were to make to the Bradford Airport. As the Bradford-bound party came to the Outing Club it was intercepted by New Process employees who escorted the group of honor to the club, making the surprise element a complete one.

In the afternoon there was a revue-type entertainment which included sketches of interesting phases of company history and musical numbers, with the cast made up entirely of company employees.

At the conclusion of the entertainment Mr. Blair was presented with a bronze plaque, M. G. Keller making the presentation in behalf of all of the employees. It bore this inscription: "To John L. Blair: Your co-workers have joined together, in mutual regard for your courage, leadership and friendship over the years, to present you with this expression of their esteem on your birthday—dated June 24th, 1945."

A picnic supper was served at 6:30 and the table decorations were most attractive, with bouquets of summer flowers used in profusion. Even the paper napkins and the table doilies in the form of a "Nepco Daily News" brought words of greeting to the guest of the day.

From 8:30 on there was dancing.

The committees which planned the affair were as follows: General committee: Ralph Owens, chairman; M. G. Keller and M. F. Saunders.

Entertainment: W. E. Rice and Bernice Schott, co-chairmen; E. R. Barrett, C. C. Park, S. E. Brown and Katherine Randall.

Attendance: Marian Harvey, chairman; Violet Lilja, Margaret Kiernan.

Endocrine helps restore that youthful look to face and throat

Would you like the skin of your face, your throat, to grow younger looking again? If so, try ENDOCRINE. ENDOCRINE, with its 8-year record of success, is helping thousands to improve the very skin itself, not merely its superficial appearance. For thousands, it is doing this to a degree heretofore thought impossible. The secret of ENDOCRINE's success is ACTIVOL. This ACTIVOL is a scientific replacement for woman's own skin-vitalizing substance. Thus, when you apply ENDOCRINE, it is absorbed by the skin and helps to restore normal growth of cells and tissues. Thus, ageing, dry, coarse, lined skins tend to become fresher, firmer, smoother, more youthfully attractive. How better can you invest your cosmetic dollars? Many report marked improvement in only 30 days.

Must Educate Women

Quoting Bella Fromm Welles on her belief that the reclamation of Germany must come through education of the women, she declares the women must be taught, and children from the age of six. She considers too optimistic the estimate of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler that 25 years will be required to retrain the defeated nation, saying "Germans between 20 and 30 years are lost to humanity. For 15 years they have been indoctrinated with the belief that they are part of the super race and that belief probably cannot be removed. These people must be watched constantly lest their influence contaminate those others who still can be saved."

Frau Bella fixes the number of "good" Germans remaining on earth at about 20 per cent of the nation and says these German groups should be drafted into the huge job of teaching. "Among those who have been in concentration camps, we should find a new group to build the basis for a new educational system, to bring to the German mind the necessity for doing itself over. The people must accomplish most of this themselves, for other nations could not send teachers for the task. The Germans never would accept foreigners as teachers and would sabotage our efforts."

She does advocate, however, an educational movement that will be supervised by United States consultants. To this work she would assign German-born American citizens, but only those who have been in this country no more than 10 years. Those who came here before that, she maintains, might be Pan Germanists in their beliefs, she would have the "consultants and supervisors" assigned by the government to carry on their work through lectures, informal gatherings, as consultants to individual women and young people. "We can't do Germany over," she says. "We can only inform the people of the cause and result of 200 years of Pan Germanism. They themselves must create a new ideal out of their bad experiences."

As part of the general education of the country, she would require every citizen to see a concentration camp in motion picture of one. She would abolish centuries-long training in the supremacy of force by banishing German history, war and hero books and other systems glorifying war. Another measure she would approve would be a finger-printed identification card for every German, to be obtained from a police station where he is known, and to be certified by trustworthy persons who could testify concerning his political background. To find out "who is who" is most important for governing Germany, she thinks. And, under no circumstances, would she see the citizens scattered, because this would mean the entire earth sprayed with Nazi ideas.

Encouraged by the death of her husband a year ago, Mrs. Welles now works harder than ever to free the world of Nazi influence, partly as a monument to his memory; partly out of gratitude for her American citizenship.

Statement
For Pennsy
Stockholders

Stockholders and employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad are told in a special message, now in the mails, from President M. W. Clement, how vitally they are concerned in the passage of the Bulwinkle Bill, H. R. 2536, now pending in Congress, which would "make clear the desire of Congress that the regulation of the railroads shall remain in the hands of the Interstate Commerce Commission, where it belongs."

Referring to the efforts of the Department of Justice to utilize the anti-trust laws as a means of regulating railroad rates and intruding into the field of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Mr. Clement points out that the purpose of the Bill is to protect you and the shippers and the public generally from being caught in the middle between the conflicting policies of two different government agencies."

Regarding the suit brought by the Justice Department's Anti-Trust Division against the western railroads, at Lincoln, Neb., and the suit of the State of Georgia, aided by the Division, against the eastern and southern railroads in the Supreme Court, it is stated: "Both actions are attempts to hy-pas the Interstate Commerce Commission, which has successfully regulated railroad rates, under the authority of Congress, and in the public interest, for more than fifty years."

"These suits, if successful, would destroy the railroad's rate associations which, in conference with shippers, fit rates to the needs of industry, subject to the Commission's review. The Lincoln suit would also destroy the Association of American Railroads, which coordinates the industry and has made possible its outstanding war job. The industry would be split up into hundreds of isolated units, and neither shippers nor railroads would have any assurance as to what they could or could not do."

"In the present war, operated by their own managements, the railroads are paying Federal taxes of 4 million dollars a day. In the last war, losses from Government operation cost the taxpayers 2 million dollars a day. The Country's net gain from holding to American principles in this war is 6 million dollars a day. In the war, also, the railroads have met their heavy responsibilities in full, as has been recognized by the public, the Armed Forces, and leading Government officials generally. But apparently these achievements are resented by those responsible for the anti-trust suits, who have repeatedly attacked the railroad industry."

"The need for regulation is not in question. The Bulwinkle Bill would confirm the exercise by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the full power which it now possesses to regulate railroads without interference by the Anti-Trust Division of the Department of Justice. At the very time the Georgia suit was started, the Commission was conducting a public inquiry into many of the rates involved and has recently rendered an important decision on them."

Medical Mission Worker Speaks Here on Sunday

Dr. A. H. Kemp is to speak at the First Methodist church Sunday morning and at the community union service Sunday evening. Dr. Kemp recently returned to the United States from Africa, where he has been a medical missionary since 1923, working as a parish board representative of the Erie Conference of the Methodist church.

In his African hospital, which is the only mission hospital for 300 miles, he treats the natives for the strange tropical diseases, giving many intravenous injections and performing many operations. He is assisted by one white nurse and several native nurses, whom he has trained himself.

Many Warren persons heard Doctor Kemp when he spoke here in 1936. Recently he attended the 30th reunion of his class at Allegheny College, also witnessing the graduation of his daughter, Winnie, at the college.

The Kemp's are spending their vacation at Chautauque Lake.

Elks Report to the Nation is Presented To the President

(Special Correspondence to the Times-Mirror)

Washington, D. C., June 29.—The Elks made their "Report to the Nation" recently, presenting a published resume of the Order's comprehensive war activities to President Truman, to the Secretaries of War and the Navy and to members of Congress.

The activities reviewed in the report represent a total expenditure of $1,300,000, according to the Elks War Commission, which conducts the fraternity's war programs.

A special delegation of Elks headed by Dr. Robert South Barrett, Grand Exalted Ruler, made the presentation. In the group were the chairman and members of the Elks War Commission, and members of the Board of Grand Trustees.

A total of 265 Congressmen, all of them Elks, were presented with copies of the Report to the Nation at a meeting held in the Caucus Room of the Senate shortly before noon. Copies of the Report were presented at 3:15 p. m. to the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy in the Pentagon Building, and then the Elk delegation, accompanied by a group of Senators and Representatives, called at the White House at 4:30 p. m. and there presented President Truman with the report.

In accepting the Report to the Nation, President Truman praised the war accomplishments of the Elks as "a record of which the Order of Elks and the whole nation can be proud." Said the President:

"It is appropriate that a great national organization like the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks should deliver a report of its war activities on Flag Day.

"What you have done needs no praise from me. The report speaks for itself. It is the inspiring story of the efforts of seven hundred thousand American citizens in the war, of the eighty thousand of them who have actively served our nation on land and seas and in the air, of the thousands and more who have made the supreme sacrifice. That is a shining record—a record of which the Order of Elks and the whole nation can be proud.

"The story, of course, will not be complete until the remaining evil forces of aggression are destroyed. The report breathes your determination to see this fight through to the finish. Carry on!"

From Governors of the States and from mayors of 1,425 cities where Elks Lodges are located, messages praising the war activities of the Elks were sent today to Dr. Barrett.

Although the report was made at this time, Dr. Barrett asserted, the work undertaken by the Elks War Commission is by no means nearing an end. Much lies ahead and there will be many projects which will continue until long after the war with Japan is over, he said.

Among some of the many activities, summed up in the report, have been the establishment of more than 400 schools for training young men desiring to take aviation cadet courses; the recruitment of men for the Naval Air Corps, ground crews for the Army Air Corps, and volunteers for the Army Corps of Engineers and the Navy Seabees; the evacuation of children from war zones; the collections of books for the Merchant Marine; the recruitment of nurses for Veterans Hospitals; and the establishment of Elks Fraternal Centers to provide meals, relaxation and overnight accommodations for those in the armed services.

The Report tells how the Elks War Commission in cooperation with the subordinate lodges have promoted letter writing to members in the services, and have sent gift boxes and supplies of cigarettes and tobacco overseas.

Elks are providing entertainment to more than 150,000 convalescent veterans in hospitals throughout the nation, the report points out. Yet another activity has been the aid given to internees recently released from Jamp camps in the Philippines.

YOUNGSVILLE NEWS

Youngsville, June 28.—Youngsville Halgren-Wilcox Post of the American Legion No. 658 met Tuesday evening in their present Legion rooms.

Plans are going forward toward the purchase of a permanent home. The need of a new American Legion Home in Youngsville has been felt for a long time. Now with veterans of World War II being discharged and coming back to their home community the need seems greater than ever before.

An option of 90 days was taken May 7, 1945 on the large building located on North Main street, No. 6 and known as the Stucco Building.

The sum of $10,000.00 has been set as the goal for purchase and remodeling of this building, and an appeal is being made to local citizens and those in the vicinity to take $10 shares in this home. The shares have no par value, and voting privilege in the non profit corporation, but are a part of the plan to secure funds for this community enterprise.

It is the desire of the Halgren-Wilcox Post No. 658 and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Post not only to provide a home for themselves and for the returning veterans of World War II but also to provide a permanent meeting place for Boy and Girl Scouts of the community. It is hoped that returning veterans will be members of the present Halgren-Wilcox Post but if they wish a separate organization, this home will be at their disposal.

The Stucco Building will provide ample room for business meetings, dinners, games and work shops for Scouts.

It has been rumored that the American Legion is applying for a license for the sale of beer, wine and liquor to its members. These rumors are without foundation and no such plans are contemplated.

The sale is not restricted as to numbers of shares purchased and each $10 share can be deducted from income tax returns. "YES MAN"

My name is Dorothy Baker. I'm the "Yes Man" at Personal Finance Co. . . . that is—I'm the one who likes to say "Yes" to requests for Personal loans.

You see—I'm the manager of our office—the one who's responsible for building up our business. The more times I say "yes" to requests for loans—the more business we do. And since making Personal Loans of $25 to $250 or more is our ONLY business—that's mighty important to me.

Therefore, if you need extra cash at any time—whether a little for a short time or a lot for a long time—you can depend on my doing my best to say "yes" to you.

Next time you can use a loan give me a chance to say "Yes"—won't you? I'll consider it a favor. See me at Personal Finance Co., 216 Liberty St., second floor, over Lester Shoe Store. Phone 285.

GARDEN HINTS

Pansies and Violas Are Easily Grown from Seed

Pansy plants such as are sold in flower in early spring may be grown quite easily by the gardener who has a cold frame. The seed is sown in late summer in a seed bed which can be shaded and watered.

Seed of one of the giant strains should be obtained if one wants large flowers. Violas may also be given the same treatment. All pansies are members of the viola family, but the name pansy is applied to those which have "faces."

If you have a seed bed made of fine soil shaded with a canopy of cheesecloth or lath, and which can be watered, sow the seed in rows. If you have no such seed bed prepare a flat shallow box full of sifted soil in the usual manner and sow the pansies in that. It can be placed in a shady spot and kept well watered until the seedlings appear.

In sowing spread the seed thinly. Mix sand with it if necessary to prevent overcrowding. If the seeds are too thick it will be difficult to disentangle the roots of the seedlings when time comes to move them. As soon as the seeds sprout they should be given all the light possible and plenty of fresh air. Do not let them dry out. Protect them from the mid-day sun.

When the seedlings have made their first true leaves they should be transplanted to other flats, where they have more space, or to the cold frame. Florists usually move them to flats where they are planted 2 inches each way. (This is called "pricking out.") They are allowed to grow here until they are small sturdy plants. The amateur may short cut this procedure and move the seedlings directly from the seed bed or first flat to the cold frame.

Soil in the cold frame should not be overmanured, but should be light and friable and reasonably fertile.

The plants should be set in rows, 4 inches apart in the rows, and 6 inches between the rows. Let the plants grow in the open through the fall until the ground begins to freeze. Then fill up the cold frame with dry leaves and cover it with the sash or boards. In severe weather the sash can be covered with straw mats or any such covering, but this is not usually needed. In the spring as soon as frost begins to come out of the ground, the leaves should be taken off the pansy plants and the sash put on the frame. The management from now on is the same as any other planting in the spring. The pansies will bloom under the glass much earlier than they would outdoors, and you will have pansies to set out in the border when the tulips begin to bloom.

Warren May Get State Aid With New Sewage Disposal

Word was received in Warren today by those interested in the construction of a sewage treatment plant in this city that a meeting of the State Sanitary Water Board was held yesterday at Harrisburg. At this meeting plans were approved for grants to communities in the preparation of their sewage treatment plants. However full approval of the plan was held up due to the absence of Dr. A. H. Stewart, Secretary of Health and Fish Commissioner C. A. French.

Plans were understood to provide for the payment of up to 50% of the cost of such treatment plant plans from a $10,325,000 post war public works appropriation given the health department by the 1945 legislature.

Board Secretary J. R. Hoffert said that hearings would be held

August 1 for the Pennsylvania municipalities "not showing proper progress on preparation of plans" for post war construction of sewage disposal plants.

Hoffert also said the board "recommended allocation of sufficient funds to match municipal expenditures" under the commonwealth's anti-pollution program.

"The money," he said, "will be allocated on an entirely reasonable and fair basis which will safeguard the state. Payment will be made after plans are received and approved."

Hoffert reported "gratifying cooperation" in the stream cleanup program, adding that an engineer is in the bituminous coal region investigating applications for new points of mine drainage discharges. Mine owners must submit mine drainage plans to the board by July 7.

Rural Areas Doing Well In Bond Selling

The campaign to provide three B-29 Super-Forts with Warren county's bond purchases in the 7th War Loan has had great support throughout the county, and two of the districts which have reported today have gone over the top in fine shape.

District 2, headed by H. M. Kay, of Youngsville, had a quota of $36,000 in "E" Bonds, and the latest report shows a total of $51,313.75 sold to date. C. W. Spencer, of Youngsville, is assistant leader, and Mrs. Lawrence Porter, of Spring Creek, is team captain of the district which includes Youngsville, Pittsfield, Spring Creek, Brokenstraw, Pleasant and Conewango Townships, exclusive of North Warren.

Another district which has exceeded its "E" Bond quota is District 4, Clarendon and vicinity and Mead and Cherry Grove townships. This district had a quota of $13,500 and sold $14,889.75, under the leadership of A. W. Goal, of Clarendon, and Mrs. Charles Schneider, team captain, of Clarendon.

From the transport's public address system comes a brief, recorded address of welcome from the Port Commander, the NYPE, and the famous songs of the branches of the service, "Caissons Go Rolling Along," the Air Corps song, and the like.

A gallily decorated "Welcome Home" ship, maintained by NYPE, puts out from a Port pier and a band—usually the enthusiastic WAC Band from Fort Hamilton—serenades the soldiers aboard the transport. Most times, many a pretty Red Cross girl is aboard, too, waving to the new arrivals.

As the transport leaves Fort Hamilton, a huge "Welcome Home" sign may be seen spelled out on the grassy bank.

The Army's Transport Commander, on the Transport's public address system, keeps up a running commentary about the celebrated New York landmarks as the ship picks her way up the bay. There is, of course, one sight he need not point out—the Statue of Liberty. Every returning soldier makes it his business to look for the "Old Lady", with her torch held aloft.

Through all this activity, special telegraphic forms and postcard notifications of arrival have been collected from the troops aboard the transport so families, best girls and friends will know the good news quickly. They will be transmitted as soon as the vessel docks.

The form "telegrams" may be sent to any part of the country for 25c plus six cents tax. The postcard, prepared by the port, has a blank space for the name of the addressee and a notification that the soldier has arrived at NYPE and soon will be home.

Both "telegrams" and postcards serve to bear an important message to those waiting for the veteran, requesting them not to try to see or communicate with a soldier while he is at NYPE because his departure will be speedy. There is one plea even more important which Gen. George C. Marshall, the Chief of Staff, and the commanding generals of the Ground, Air and Service Forces, they are welcomed in short, pithy addresses.

Then there is a brief orientation talk by an officer of the post, who tells soldiers about their furloughs (60 days for liberated prisoners-of-war, 30 days for other soldiers). The high point of the little speech is this:

"Don't come to New York to greet your soldier. We'll get him home to you faster than you can get here. Needless travel on your part merely will use up available train facilities and may delay someone's son or husband on his homeward journey."

Every soldier aboard the transport understands this. It remains for him to impress those waiting for him with the message. Virtually all returning veterans make sure their telegrams and postcards are handed in before the boat docks.

The next thing that interests them is the actual docking. In accordance with port schedules prepared well in advance of any transport's arrival, the ship may be routed to one of the Army Port's huge piers. As the great exodus from Europe gains momentum, it is expected all available piers at each of the waterfront Port Terminals of NYPE will be in use at one time or another.

Whatever pier the transport approaches, troops on the crowded decks will see resplendent decorations... painted designs in patriotic colors, flags of the United Nations and special banners, and colorful illumination.

The exteriors are done in red and white against a background of blue and bear the American emblem and the insignia of the Transportation Corps. The interiors are set up even more lavishly, with flags of the various Armies, Corps and Divisions that have seen action abroad.

No soldier abroad a newly arrived transport can have any doubt that a special effort has been made to please him. And, as soon as the ship comes close enough, a band on the pier breaks into popular music. WACs on duty at NYPE as guides for debarking troops wave to the approaching ship and cheers are their greeting.

Welcome For Overseas Vets Is Outlined By the O. T. I.

(Released by Office of Technical Information, Public Relations Branch).

Half our overseas veterans returning to the United States from Europe pass through the Army's New York Port of Embarkation, which speeds them on their journey home.

For many of them years have passed since their departure for the fighting fronts and a special military "Welcome Home" program therefore has been devised for them under the direction of Maj. Gen. Homer M. Groninger, the Army's Port Commander.

Service is the keynote—service, cordiality and speedy travel.

Under the jurisdiction of the Transportation Corps of the Army Service Forces, the New York Port of Embarkation with its three great staging areas and eight port terminals strives to provide every comfort available in a great hotel for the returning soldiers.

Returning troops first become the responsibility of the Transportation Corps, Port Commander when they board their ship overseas and remain his charges until they detrain at the reception stations nearest their homes.

"Welcome Home"—Army style—begins in New York Bay as the past the open submarine nets and points her nose toward the Statue of Liberty. The "Welcome Home" as well as all other aspects of the handling of returning troops, is completely an Army responsibility with no civilian participation primarily because we are still at war and nothing that is done may interfere with operations continuing for the Pacific Theater.

The first order given aboard is "Dress Ship" and the grey ship, once nameless and ghost-like in outline, is decked with colorful signal flags from stem to stern. All other vessels in the harbor, whether they are under jurisdiction of the New York Port of Embarkation or the War Shipping Administration, are in similar array. As transports steam up the bay, all these vessels blow their whistles in greeting.

From the transport's public address system comes a brief, recorded address of welcome from the Port Commander, the NYPE, and the famous songs of the branches of the service, "Caissons Go Rolling Along," the Air Corps song, and the like.

And, as soon as the ship comes close enough, a band on the pier breaks into popular music. WACs on duty at NYPE as guides for debarking troops wave to the approaching ship and cheers are their greeting.

The band creates a lively atmosphere in the brief wait between the time the ship ties up and the gangplanks are rigged. During that interval, the volunteer American Red Cross women on the pier with their coffee, milk, lemonade, ice cream, doughnuts, sandwiches and candy make final preparations.

If there are wounded soldiers abroad the transport, Red Cross and Special Services representatives go aboard before the debarkation begins. The Red Cross girls hand out their magazines, candy, etc., and the Special Services soldiers and WACs commence an impromptu entertainment to ease the tedium for those patients who are awaiting debarkation.

Once the able-bodied soldiers start streaming from the vessel, in a pre-determined order, the Red Cross is on the job once more on the pier. The soldiers are checked off on the troop passenger list as they reach the foot of the gangplank and form up some distance away.

During the process of forming, Red Cross girls with their big baskets circulate among the soldiers and give them food and drink with milk, by all odds, being the most popular of all commodities.

Where two gangplanks are placed aboard a vessel, one is used for able-bodied troops and the other for walking wounded or litter cases. For both categories, transportation is available and waiting when the ship docks.

The returnees' destination is either Camp Kilmer, near New Brunswick, New Jersey, or Camp Shanks, near Orangeburg, New York, the big staging areas of NYPE. Smaller groups may go to Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn. At Camp Kilmer, ten disposition areas exclusively for overseas veterans are being put into service and four more are being made available at Camp Shanks, with a total processing capacity for the port of 250,000 troops a month.

The wounded in litters are transported to the Shanks or Kilmer station hospital by ambulance, while the walking wounded go by bus convoy. Large groups of able-bodied troops proceed by ferry to railroads in New Jersey, either at Weehawken or Jersey City, and complete the trip by train. Small groups go by bus convoy.

Whatever the mode of travel, the Port sees to it that the soldiers know exactly what lies ahead of them. A souvenir eight-page tabloid newspaper, the NYPE News, containing all details of procedure, facilities and amusements at the Port, is placed in the hands of every soldier on his way to camp.

From the time the debarkation begins, it is seldom more than two hours before a soldier arrives either at Camp Kilmer or Camp Shanks.

The procedure at both posts is virtually the same, except that Kilmer, being the main disposition center, has set aside greater facilities. But Shanks has its special features, too, one of the most colorful being an "Avenue of States" with replicas and flags of each of the 48 States lining the street along which the returnees enter the post.

Wherever the soldier sets foot on America once more, and to whichever camp he goes, the Army Port's first consideration is his comfort.

When troop trains arrive at railheads either at Camp Kilmer or Shanks, long lines of trucks wait to take the soldier's barracks bags. Loudspeakers announce that soldiers should take note of the truck number into which their luggage has been placed, so they can claim it under the number at the disposition area where they will be put up in barracks. The procedure is similar for bus convoys on arrival.

This is done so that soldiers will not have to lug their heavy bags. Moreover, they are told in advance that they will have no details of any kind while at NYPE.

As soon as the returnees arrive in camp, they go to a post theatre where a band plays swing tunes while they file in. Here, on behalf of General George C. Marshall, the Chief of Staff, and the commanding generals of the Ground, Air and Service Forces, they are welcomed in short, pithy addresses.

Then there is a brief orientation talk by an officer of the post, who tells soldiers about their furloughs (60 days for liberated prisoners-of-war, 30 days for other soldiers). The high point of the little speech is this:

"Don't come to New York to greet your soldier. We'll get him home to you faster than you can get here. Needless travel on your part merely will use up available train facilities and may delay someone's son or husband on his homeward journey."

Every soldier aboard the transport understands this. It remains for him to impress those waiting for him with the message. Virtually all returning veterans make sure their telegrams and postcards are handed in before the boat docks.

The next thing that interests them is the actual docking. In accordance with port schedules prepared well in advance of any transport's arrival, the ship may be routed to one of the Army Port's huge piers. As the great exodus from Europe gains momentum, it is expected all available piers at each of the waterfront Port Terminals of NYPE will be in use at one time or another.

Whatever pier the transport approaches, troops on the crowded decks will see resplendent decorations... painted designs in patriotic colors, flags of the United Nations and special banners, and colorful illumination.

The exteriors are done in red and white against a background of blue and bear the American emblem and the insignia of the Transportation Corps. The interiors are set up even more lavishly, with flags of the various Armies, Corps and Divisions that have seen action abroad.

No soldier abroad a newly arrived transport can have any doubt that a special effort has been made to please him. And, as soon as the ship comes close enough, a band on the pier breaks into popular music. WACs on duty at NYPE as guides for debarking troops wave to the approaching ship and cheers are their greeting.

State Makes Plans For a Tough Winter

The arrival of summer finds the Pennsylvania Department of Highways preparing to whip "Old Man Winter" as Secretary John U. Shroyer announced a partial list of snow fighting equipment that has been purchased or advertised for purchase.

Determined to be set for another extremely tough winter, "if it comes," Shroyer's purchase plans call for 20 tractors and angle dozers; 45 four-wheel Drive Trucks, of which 25 are five tons, 15 four to four and one-half tons, 5 three to three and one-half tons, Conventional Trucks.

The entire cost of the equipment purchased or advertised for will amount to $1,085,000.

In addition to the above equipment, the Secretary has ordered 10 Rotary Snow Plows and 187 other snow plows of all types.

"If possible we also hope to add 10 more of the five ton variety and 10 of the four to four and one-half tons to the original order," Shroyer concluded.

OBSERVANCE OF FARM SAFETY WEEK URGED

Harrisburg, June 29—Farmers of Pennsylvania were urged today by Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst to observe National Farm Safety Week, July 22-28, in an effort to reduce the approximately 8,000 accidents that annually occur on farms and in farm homes of the state.

Steering the observance of the second annual Farm Safety Week in Pennsylvania is the State Farm and Home Safety Committee of which Harrison S. Nolt, Columbia, is chairman. Through the efforts of this committee various statewide and local farm organizations have requested their members to participate. The principal objective of the 1945 Pennsylvania program is to urge farm people to observe safety measures 52 weeks of the year and to teach them to recognize, guard against and eliminate as many accident hazards as possible.

rency into American money. Also repairmen and owners of war may have a partial payment on a sliding scale depending upon the length of time they were prisoners; all patients receive an immediate $25 payment; and all others may secure a partial payment if they require it.
